

welcome

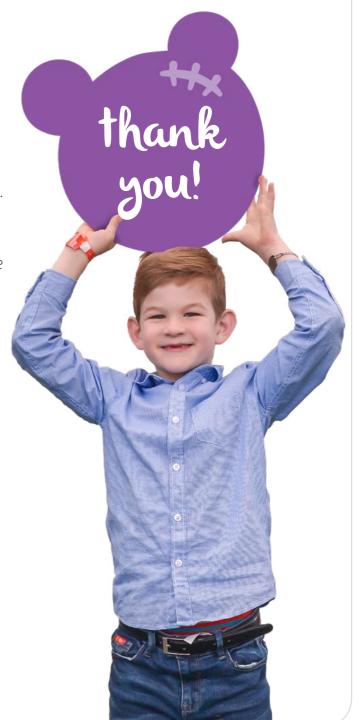

Congratulations – your fundraising proposal has been approved!

We are so excited to welcome you as part of the Perth Children's Hospital Foundation fundraising family.

You are doing something amazing. By raising funds to support WA's only specialist children's hospital, you are giving kids a chance to live their happiest, healthiest lives.

Thank you!

This pack will help you organise your activity. It contains everything you need to get started on your fundraising journey, including legal guidelines and details about the kids you are helping.

you are giving children like Ruby a chance

Ruby was just seven months old when she was first diagnosed with a rare form of cancer.

Ruby at 7 months of age

Ruby's parents, Emma and Joel, first suspected something was wrong when they noticed that she had become extremely sleepy and pale. After taking her to Princess Margaret Hospital for a check-up and blood tests, Emma and Joel were given the life-altering news.

Ruby was diagnosed with Acute Myeloid Leukaemia in late 2013.

Three out of ten children diagnosed with this form of leukaemia are unable to recover from it.

"The hardest part of dealing with Ruby's condition is knowing that tomorrow is never guaranteed and that she could be gone in a heartbeat," Emma explained.

Ruby aged two.

"At each appointment I would feel physically sick hoping everything would look good."

Before she had even turned one, Ruby had endured six intensive rounds of chemotherapy, multiple lumbar punctures and a major surgery.

Emma and Joel began spending every spare moment they had at the hospital to be with Ruby. Every second was dominated by thoughts of platelets, blood pressure levels and test results.

Over a year after Ruby had first been diagnosed, the news that the family was waiting for arrived. Doctors declared her to be in remission.

Finally, Emma, Joel, Ruby and her older brother Chayse could begin life as a 'normal family'. Emma started applying for jobs again and everything seemed to be looking up. The family were hoping and praying that Ruby's leukaemia would fade into history.

Then, in late September of 2015, Ruby's condition took a turn for the worse. She had relapsed.

Ruby's doctors recommended an aggressive treatment program to commence immediately. This included two high-dose rounds of chemotherapy and a bone marrow transplant.

Whilst the treatments went well, the leukaemia had grown in clusters on Ruby's brain, affecting her balance. As a result, Ruby's walking was severely impaired.

Ruby is now four years old and continues to battle her condition.

She remains a ray of sunshine, smiling even when she's not feeling well.

Thank you for taking on the challenge to raise funds for Perth Children's Hospital Foundation – you are making a difference to the lives of West Australian children like Ruby.

how to easily raise $3,000

personal donations

- Send out personal emails or messages on social media to your contacts and ask for a specific donation amount - "Let's get 50 people to give $50 to help kids in WA. Can you donate $50?"
- Get your family and friends to email their networks
- Ask any local community groups or local businesses that you're familiar with to donate.

your first event - movie night

- ▶ 40 people (try to fill the cinema) with a profit of $20 per ticket will generate $1,200.
- Give people who can't attend an option to donate online.
- Add a raffle to raise a further $500 by selling 50 tickets at $10 each.
- Ask local businesses to donate prizes for your raffle.

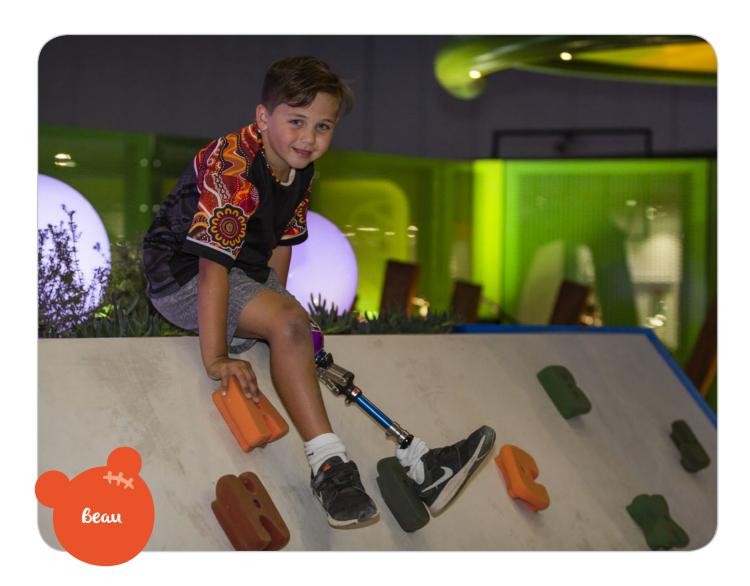

your second event - barbeque

- Contact Bunnings or a local hardware store to book a weekend BBO
- Advertise in your local newspaper and invite everyone you know to come along.

- Get some friends to hold a morning tea at work, or to bake and sell cupcakes for you. A few morning teas could raise up to $500!
- Organise a garage or e-bay sale.
- If you have a birthday coming up ask for donations instead of gifts.
- Ask your local sports club if you can sell drinks or snacks at one of their events.

how to guides and other resources

We have a bunch of 'how to 'quides to help you with your event, so if you get stuck with anything send us an email or call for a copy.

Are you selling raffle tickets?

Do you need help contacting media? Other resources include:

your responsibilities

By running your activity in an appropriate and responsible way, you can make sure it's fun and safe for everyone.

There are guidelines and legal regulations regarding raffles and auctions in Western Australia so make sure you check if they are relevant to your activity.

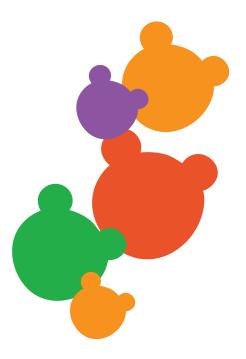

You may also need a licence for the following activities:

- Providing alcohol
- Providing entertainment
- A public collection
- Putting up banners or signs in public areas
- Selling goods in a public place

For more information you can visit the Department of Commerce website: www.commerce.wa.gov.au/ consumer-protection/charities

To ensure your event is safe, you may need to secure public liability insurance and first aid.

As an Authorised Perth Children's Hospital Foundation Fundraiser, if you breach your legal responsibilities or are found to be negligent, you could potentially be liable for costs that may arise due to damage, loss or injury.

Disclaimer: Perth Children's Hospital Foundation reserves the right to withdraw its approval of a fundraising activity at any time if it appears that there is a likelihood of the Authorised Fundraiser failing to meet the above responsibilities.

getting the brand right

Use of Perth Children's Hospital Foundation brand elements (name, logos, Stitches Bear, images etc.) is strictly limited to official Perth Children's Hospital Foundation use.

- It is not permissible to use these on any communications or materials produced for your fundraising event without prior written approval.
- We can issue you with a copy of the appropriate 'proudly supporting Perth Children's Hospital Foundation' logo and approved images on request. Please contact us by calling (08) 6456 5550.
- Logos and images are only to be used in the format provided to you and may not be altered in any way.
- Use of Perth Children's Hospital Foundation brand elements is limited only to communications and materials specifically relating to your approved fundraising activity and for an agreed period of time only.
- Perth Children's Hospital Foundation brand elements cannot form part of your fundraising activity name or logo. You can of course say that the money you raise will help make it better for the kids at Perth Children's Hospital.
- Acceptable wording alternatives include; "proudly supporting Perth Children's Hospital Foundation" or "net proceeds will be donated to Perth Children's Hospital Foundation".

- The manufacture or sale of unofficial merchandise (i.e. any goods bearing any of Perth Children's Hospital Foundation's brand elements) is strictly prohibited. Official Perth Children's Hospital Foundation merchandise is available on consignment for Authorised Fundraisers.
- Any copy/design mentioning Perth Children's Hospital Foundation in correspondence, advertising, publicity or any printed or digital form must be emailed to the Foundation for approval prior to production/ distribution.

where your money goes

Your support will help the thousands of children who depend on the hospital for their health. It will also help to provide moments of happiness for kids at the hospital and their families.
